

Erythronium - Growing Guide

Caring For Erythronium

Dog's tooth lily, Trout lily

These are hardy bulbous clump forming perennials which have naturalised themselves well along the sides of the drive at Burncoose where they flower in April in fairly bare patches of ground where the competition from other grasses and weeds is not too intense. This success story is E. japonicum from Japan which is a bulbous plant with rich violet flowers and purple anthers. It grows only to about 6-8in in height but is eye catching when it performs.

Erythronium japonicum

Erythronium japonicum
'Pagoda'

Erythronium japonicum
'Pagoda'

Erythronium japonicum
'Pagoda'

Erythronium japonicum
'Pagoda'

Erythronium japonicum
'Pagoda'

Erythronium japonicum
'Pagoda'

Erythronium 'Kondo'

Erythronium 'Kondo'

Erythronium californicum
'White Beauty'